Reel Mentors event provides learning and fun

Becci Sullivan

District 2 Council Rep

On Saturday, June 26th District 2 collaborated with the Reel Mentors Program founders Ronald Suverkubbe, Ponca Tribal member and owner of Critter U, and Rashad Evans, Hall of Fame mixed martial artist, to provide a fishing event for our district youth at Standing Bear Lake off of 138th and Fort in Omaha, NE. Many of the Reel mentor representatives traveled from Florida to attend the event and even brought a few youth from the FL area to experience life in Omaha and fishing in Nebraska. Also in attendance were many of the Osni Ponca youth council members to serve as mentors for the day.

The group met in the morning to provide fishing education for the youth. They learned how to tie different fishing knots, how to cast, and about fishing techniques.

The youth were able to have casting contests and see fish up close to better understand the sport. Once the group was finished with donuts and the education session, they walked down to the pier to show their new skills with their mentors. After fishing for a couple of hours, the group reconnected at the pavilion for a grill out and the kids were able to play games and hang out with their mentors. In addition to the fishing, learning, and playing, the participants had the opportunity to engage with champions Rashad Evans and Houston Alexander. Their stories provide meaningful examples for youth of the power of goals, discipline, effort, and the ability to cope with stress and pressure. Both gentlemen are committed to “giving back” and strengthening our communities and empowering our youth.

The Reel Mentors collaboration made the day successful for our D2 Ponca youth, with Scheels providing the fishing poles for each youth to take home. D2 Tribal Council provided the food, tackle boxes with goodies, and the prizes for the youth contests.

According to Ponca member Ronald Suverkubbe, “the goals of the Reel Mentors programs are simple ... to teach kids how to fish and provide each child with a mentor they can talk to about education, life ... and of

Youth Council attends Unity Conference

Maci Schott

This July, the Osni Ponka Youth Council attended their very first Unity Conference. Chairwoman Maci Schott traveled with members Ben Schott, Cami Schott, Sofia Hegstrom, and Taya Lehman to Dallas, Texas. They were chaperoned by the Osni Ponka Youth Council advisor, Rebecca Sullivan, and Ponca member, Candy Schott. At the conference our Ponca Youth Council members learned about native pride, raising awareness on important topics that are affecting our native youth, and heard from numerous guest speakers. Their favorite guest speaker was Lauren Schad. Lauren is 26 years old, and she is a member of the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe. Lauren is a professional volleyball player for a team in France. She shared her experience about teaching others about her culture, being a minority, persevering through school, and accomplishing goals as a young native. She is a Nike N7 Ambassador and has a line coming out early this month. Our members loved hearing about her commitment as a young Native athlete in school and raising awareness on the MMIW epidemic. Another highlight from the trip was being exposed to various cultures and traditions in other tribes. The Youth Council members especially enjoyed learning about other regions around the United States. At this conference, youth spoke from the Great Plains, Midwest, Northeast, Northwest, Pacific, Rocky Mountains, Southeast, Southern Plains, Southwest, and Western regions. It was great for our Youth Council members to hear what different Youth Councils are doing, their perspectives, and about life in their tribes. Our Youth Council members have even learned that they can stay in touch with everyone at Unity through a new app called “Unity Wellness Warrior”. Our members have downloaded this app and through it, they can learn about culture, language, traditional dishes, project planning, financial fitness, and more. This will allow our tribe’s Youth Council to stay in touch and communicate with other youth leaders around the United States. Together, we hope to continue to raise awareness on important issues and inspire future leaders to be anything they set their minds to.

course, fishing.” The group hopes to continue to work with the Ponca Tribe of NE to provide more youth with a day of fishing and fun. The day’s events were in line with the group’s motto, Empowering youth success through mentor-led learning experiences.

A special THANKS to Ponca member, Ronald Suverkrubbe and his partner, Pam Perry, for their continued commitment and for allowing their non-profit, Reel Mentors Youth Fishing Program, to be a part of our D2 Community. “It was really great to see our youth enjoying themselves in nature, fishing, laughing, talking, playing, and having a wonderful time without electronics!” said D2 Tribal Council Rep, Becci Sullivan.

Learning about the different types of ozone

Allison Gienapp
Air Technician

There are two types of ozone around the Earth. One is harmful ground-level ozone. Ground-level ozone has been linked to severe health complications such as a decrease in lung functions, inflammation, and increases in asthma attacks. Ground-level ozone is produced when volatile organic compounds (commonly found in aerosol sprays) react with nitrogen and radiation from sunlight.

The other type of known ozone is the protective layer of ozone in the atmosphere. The ozone layer is a layer of the atmosphere that protects the Earth from harmful ultraviolet radiation. The ozone layer has been depleted over the years thanks to industrialization, with the major releases of greenhouse gases from large factories. Due to the depletion of the ozone layer, the number of cases of different types of skin cancer has been on the rise. Sunburns have also gotten worse over the years. This is because more harmful ultraviolet radiation from the sun is making its way to the Earth's surface.

Thankfully, according to the World Meteorological Organization (WMO) on January 6th of this year, they declared that the Antarctic ozone hole, which was one of the deepest and largest gaps in the last 40 years has now closed.

September 16, 2021, marks the 34th year of what is now known as World Ozone Day. World Ozone Day is a day marked to bringing awareness to protecting the World's ozone layer in the atmosphere. This started thanks to the Vienna Convention for the Protection of the Ozone Layer and the Montreal Protocol. The Vienna Convention was the scientific confirmation that the ozone layer had been depleted and prompted the international community to take actions against the depletion of the ozone layer. The Montreal Protocol is a world protocol on how to protect the ozone layer. This is done by taking measures to control the releases of greenhouse gases and other substances that harm the ozone layer.

Ponca Health Services presents on summer storm preparedness

On Thursday, July 22nd, the Ponca Tribe of Nebraska hosted a Summer Severe Weather preparedness event. Staff presented on how to make an emergency plan for severe weather, and talked about assembling an emergency kit for these scenarios. In-person and virtual attendees were invited to pick up some basic emergency kit supplies, and all attendees were entered into a drawing for larger emergency kit supplies. Winners of the raffle included Beth Barger, Candace Schmidt, Jamie Lemus, and Tasia Voss.

Make sure that you and your family are prepared for summer storms!

Why build an emergency kit?

After an emergency, you may not have access to running water, electricity, or even your home, and may need to survive with limited resources for several days. Being prepared means having enough food, water, and other supplies. Generally, plan for three days, possibly longer if you are in a remote or hard-to-reach area. Once you take a look at the basic items, consider what unique needs your family might have, such as supplies for pets or seniors. Include copies of important paperwork such as birth certificates, titles and deeds, and insurance information.

If you would like one of the emergency kit starter bags from this event, please contact Sarah in the Niobrara office, and she will facilitate getting one to the office site nearest you for pickup. Kits are available on a first-come, first-served basis.
