Updates and changes to enrollment cards

There have been many updates and changes to our cards over the years. We're here to give you some information and to help you decide what best suits your needs.

1. We do not automatically send out certificate cards when a member is enrolled. Because of the new ID's that we offer, we need photos. So we include paperwork and instructions as how to obtain a photo ID or certificate card with the welcome packets.
2. There are two types of cards. A photo ID and certificate card.
 - Photo ID's are similar to a driver's license or state ID and work as a second form of identification also. You will need to fill out the "signature page" which can be found on the website, in the newsletter or may be requested and we can email or mail it out to you. You must fill out the bottom portion of the form and remember to sign your name and send/email back with a photo that we will use for your ID. This photo should not include filters and please include a photo other than your current driver's license/ID. These ID's also have an expiration date of five years so don't forget to renew yours.
 - Certificate cards do not have photos or include all of the same information as an ID does. These cards contain your enrollment information and usually work best for babies or children. Adults may also use these if they do not prefer a photo ID. You do not need to fill out the form and no signature is required. To obtain a certificate card please contact the enrollment department to submit your request.

3. Photo ID's can be customized to your needs/likings. The bottom portion of the signature page will include a couple of options for you to choose from. These options include your social security number and blood quantum.
4. Photo ID's will resemble state ID's/drivers licenses meaning that adult cards will be printed in a lateral (side to side) format and minors will be printed in a vertical (up and down) format. Minor ID cards will also include a red banner across the top of the card and read "MINOR."

We are working hard to provide our members with many options to fill their needs so if you're needing that photo ID to help get your passport, needing a form of identification or just needing something to show your tribal enrollment, we're here to help.

Feel free to contact us with any questions you might have.

Keep it handy! Keep it safe!

Keeping your enrollment number safe and secure is important! Your enrollment number is the fastest and easiest way to verify your enrollment in the Ponca Tribe of Nebraska, and your eligibility for programs open to members of the Ponca Tribe.

Moving forward all changes to forms and other personal information, online, in person, and over the phone, will require your enrollment number. No changes will be made without a verified enrollment number. Likewise, all Ponca-specific programs will require a verified enrollment number at the time of application to be accepted.

So remember to keep your enrollment number handy, and keep it secure! If you need a new enrollment card or tribal ID, please reach out to the Enrollment Department, enrollment@poncatribene.org.

Community Health Manager Velasquez receives Community Health Worker Outstanding Service Award

Nancie Velasquez, Community Health Manager for the Ponca Tribe of Nebraska, was recently named the first recipient of the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) Community Health Worker Outstanding Service Award.

Nancie was nominated by colleagues from the Ponca Tribe, including former Chairman Larry Wright, Jr., for her work during the COVID-19 pandemic response. Nancie helped organize contact tracing efforts, personal protective equipment distribution, and meal and grocery distribution for tribal elders.

Congratulations to Nancie on receiving this award, and thank you!

Calling all Ponca Veterans!

The Ponca Tribe of Nebraska Tribal Historic Preservation Officer (THPO) is working to create a comprehensive list of all Ponca veterans for present and future recognition of service. As such, the THPO is respectfully requesting members that are veterans, or those who have family that have served, help provide information, including:

- Branch of service
- Wars served
- Dates served
- Photographs
- Details or a story from that service

This information will be featured on an veterans honor wall in the Ponca Tribe Museum, and will be used to honor veterans at events, memorials, etc.

PONCA TRIBE OF NEBRASKA

To submit veteran information, please contact Stacy Laravie, THPO via email (ssettje@poncatribene.org) or via mail:

PEDCO requesting letters of commitment from current and potential Ponca Tribal member business owners

Ponca Economic Development Corp. (PEDCO) is seeking grant funding to start up a business loan program. Loan funds would be available to businesses at a low interest rate and could be used for start-up costs, operating capital, equipment purchase, etc. PEDCO hopes to have the loan fund available by mid-to-late summer.

However, in order to do this, many grant funders require the grant application to include letters of commitment from business owners.

PEDCO is asking Ponca Tribal members who either own a business - or members who would like to start up a new small business - to submit a letter of commitment to us for an upcoming application. The application deadline is February 28th, so letters are needed as soon as possible, and no later than February 10th.

Example letters of commitment can be found at www.pedco-ne.org, or they can be requested by sending an email to jmeyer@pedco-ne.org.

Another benefit for Ponca Tribal business owners is that PEDCO now has a business directory on its new website. Business owners interested in having their business listing on the website should submit: name of their business, type of business, business address and phone number, contact person for their business, business contact email address, and website (if applicable).

PONCA ELECTION 2022

Ponca members, please make sure you are registered to vote as we approach an election year for the Ponca Tribe of Nebraska.

Voter registration forms can be downloaded and printed out on the Ponca Tribe of Nebraska website, www.poncatribene.org.

Completed forms must be mailed to:
Ponca Election Board
P.O. Box 9
Niobrara, NE 68760

Ballots will be verified by your signature on the return envelope.

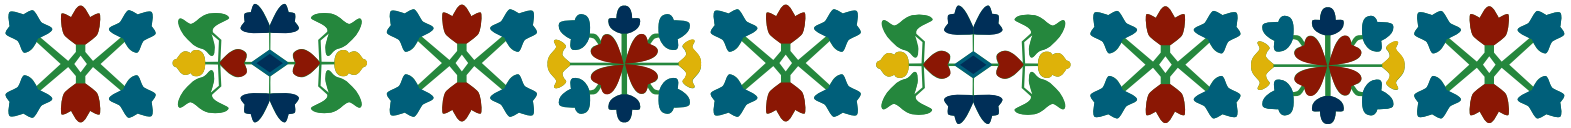

Reasons to update registration:

- If your name has changed
- If your signature has changed
- If your address has changed

Electronic signatures WILL NOT be accepted. The name on your registration form and your return envelope must match. (For example, If your name is Joseph Smith both items must say Joseph Smith, no abbreviations.)

If you have questions, please email the Ponca Election Board at eboard@poncatribene.org

Family Physician, Ponca Health Services Clinical Director
Fred LeRoy Health & Wellness Center | Omaha, NE

love professionally is being in a room with a patient and helping them achieve better health. I really like everything from wellness exams and counseling to chronic disease management. I have a particular interest in managing obesity and type 2 diabetes with diet and inexpensive medications. In non-patient care roles, I have a passion for implementing high-quality primary care through a patient-centered medical home model and reducing the cost of healthcare through direct payment and price shopping wherever possible.

I have practiced as a board certified Family Nurse Practitioner since 2011 working in a variety of setting including community health center, hospital-based rural health clinic, rural health clinic, occupational health, and in-home Medicare assessments. I joined Ponca Tribe of Nebraska and the Fred LeRoy Health and Wellness Clinic in February 2020 as a contract employee and became a full-time employee December 2020. I also have a background in the military as a commissioned officer in the Navy Reserve since 2002 and just recently completed 19 years of service November 2021.

Maria Douthett, DNP, APRN, FNP-C

Family Nurse Practitioner
Fred LeRoy Health & Wellness Center | Omaha, NE

Maria Douthett, DNP, APRN is originally from Omaha, Nebraska and grew up in the South Omaha area. She received her first undergraduate degree in chemistry from California State University and worked in research for 3 years on gene therapy to target head/neck cancers and the role of inflammatory mediators in heart remodeling after a heart attack. She learned her passion for medicine in these roles. She did an accelerated nursing program through Methodist to get her undergraduate degree. She then pursued her Doctorate in Nursing Practice from Methodist College. She has 6 years of cardiology experience and acute care background. She also has a passion for diabetes and serving the needs of her patients and the Native population. Maria appreciates patients from all backgrounds and feels everyone deserves access to high quality health care. She values preventative health care and education to empower patients in their health goals.

Rebecca Lechner, DNP, APRN, FNP-C

Family Nurse Practitioner
Ponca Health Services - Lincoln | Lincoln, NE

Rebecca Lechner is a Family Nurse Practitioner and a member of the Ponca Tribe of Nebraska. Rebecca is from small town Neligh, Nebraska, the daughter of Ray & Deb Branstiter of Neligh, and the granddaughter of Theodore (Red) & the late LaRita Branstiter of Niobrara. Rebecca graduated from Nebraska Methodist College in Omaha, NE with her Doctorate in Nursing Practice. Rebecca served many years as a Registered Nurse in the acute care and emergency care settings.

Rebecca says, "As a Family Nurse Practitioner, I have been trained to care for the whole family, from infancy to the elderly. I can assess, diagnose and treat the majority of conditions which present to the clinic." She understands, though, that some more complex conditions may require further evaluation by a specialist or physician and has built great rapport with many providers around the Lincoln community already. "I am passionate about education and teaching my patients about maintaining a balance for optimal health."

Melissa Kitto, PA-C

Physician Assistant
Ponca Hills Health & Wellness Center | Norfolk, NE

I graduated from the University of South Dakota in Vermillion in 2005 from their Physician Assistant Program with a Bachelors in Science.

I have worked as a Physician Assistant since 2006. In January of 2008 I started my journey as a Captain in the US army working as a Physician Assistant taking care of soldiers in Garrison and in 2009-2010 was deployed to Afghanistan where I took care of Soldiers, Soldiers from other Nations, and Local Nationals.

From June 2012-January 2013 I deployed again to Afghanistan, then served on Active duty until September 2014. July 30, 2014 I started working at the Ponca Hills Health and Wellness Center as the Physician Assistant, having the privilege and honor to take care of not only the Ponca Tribal people but Tribal people from any federally recognized Tribe in the United States. In April 2016, I joined the United States Army reserve to have the privilege of taking care of Soldiers and continuing to serve.

I truly enjoy taking care of people especially Soldiers and Tribal Members.

The mission of Ponca Health Services is to serve the Native American community, providing holistic, caring, family-centered, and culturally sensitive services through a quality clinical and educational approach to health care. Columbia Law School Q&A with Ponca member Katie Brossy

Article reprinted courtesy
Columbia Law School

What exactly do you do?

Our practice group is unique in that we represent Native American tribes, tribal entities, or instrumentalities. We work on issues that involve lobbying before Congress or the administration, regulatory work, and litigation. So it's a little bit of everything. A big portion of the work that I have focused my practice on has been in the area of Indian Water Rights Settlements. I worked on the implementation of the 2004 Gila River Indian Community Water Rights Settlement. In 2010, we passed the Crow Tribe Water Rights Settlement Act, and in 2016, we passed the Pechanga Band of Luiseño Missions Indians Water Rights Settlement Act. I worked on negotiating the legislation and settlement documentation and getting the bills passed in Congress.

What do you like about your job?

The best thing about my job is seeing that the work we do makes a difference in the day-to-day lives of Native people. We've been able to utilize mandatory statutory authority under the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act to build two new schools for the Gila River Indian community in Arizona. It's an innovative approach for working on infrastructure in Indian country. What was wonderful is that the community was able to plan, design, and build a new school for the needs of its students. Hopefully, this is a model that can be replicated by other tribes, so they can dictate what their schools look like and have the ability to incorporate their tribal traditions and vision. I attended the opening of the Gila Crossing Community School; making sure that what I'm doing is going to have a positive effect on future generations of Native children and seeing the smiles on their faces is what it's all about.

What's the hardest part of your job?

Working at a Big Law firm, there are challenges in finding a good home-work balance. I have two small children, and I must say that my firm is very supportive. But it can be stressful and challenging when your tribal clients are paying you large law firm fees; you want to deliver for what they're paying you, right? So it's a high stress level job, and you're always on call. Every once in a while, you've got to work until the wee hours to get things done, but that's just part of the game, and, again, it is all worth it when we're able to accomplish our tribal clients' goals and see real progress in their communities.

Why did you want to go to law school?

Being an attorney is a way to really impact issues on the ground, so I went to law school knowing that I specifically wanted to work for Native people on Native issues. I am the first member of my tribe, the Ponca Tribe of Nebraska, to go to law school and practice law—at least that is what I have been told. I have a long line of tribal leaders in my family who always encouraged me to work for our Native people and to use the law to do that effectively.

Why did you choose Columbia Law School?

I'm from Nebraska, and I only applied to the University of Nebraska College of Law because I didn't really want to leave home. I am very close to my family. But then, the summer before law school, I attended the Pre-Law Summer Institute for American Indians and Alaska Natives in Albuquerque, New Mexico. While I was at the program, other schools came to recruit, and Columbia was there; I'd done very well in the summer program, and fortunately, I was accepted to Columbia.

What was your law school experience like?

It was a culture shock, to say the least, to go from Nebraska to New York City! But I felt it was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to attend such an incredible law school. It pushed me outside my comfort zone and opened up so many doors. I participated in the Native American Law Students Association Moot Court, and that was a really great learning opportunity. The most important part of law school was learning to think like an attorney.

Why did you want to work at Akin Gump?

I came over from a smaller, boutique firm, and I wanted to join a larger firm that had an excellent reputation for working on tribal law and policy issues. Also, Akin Gump was doing some work for the Ponca Tribe, which made it a natural fit.

Why did you want to practice in Washington, D.C.?

It was a good compromise between Nebraska and New York City. Congress is here, the administration is here. It is the place if you want to be working on current Native policy and relevant issues. A common phrase among our practitioners is, "All roads in Indian country lead to D.C."

Dear Ponca Relatives: My name is Cliff Taylor. I am the son of Cliff Taylor Jr. and the grandson of Cliff Taylor Sr. and Barb Taylor (Picotte). I'm a writer, a jack of many trades, a Sundancer, and a poet. I love spending my time working on things that I imagine will be of some help or use or inspiration to our people, especially on things that'll continue to help long after us current folks are gone. And in that spirit, I have a new project I would like to invite you all to be a part of. I want to put together a book of stories about our Ponca people, stories of all kinds from all of us, to create a portrait of who we are that we can share with each other far and wide, and also pass on to our young ones.

Send me a story or two or three. Tell your family about this project and see if they'd like to participate. My email is cliffponca@gmail.com and my mailing address is Cliff Taylor/ 3710 Grand Ave/ Astoria, OR 97103. I look forward to reading your stories and finding a place for them in Stories of Our Northern Ponca People.
